

Britt Craiglow, MD

Adjunct Professor of Dermatology

Yale School of Medicine

New Haven, Connecticut, USA

Dr. Britt Craiglow is Adjunct Associate Professor of Dermatology at Yale and sees patients in private practice in Fairfield, CT. She is a widely recognized expert in hair loss disorders and pediatric dermatology. Dr. Craiglow has authored over seventy publications, speaks at national and international conferences, and has served as an investigator on clinical trials. Her clinical areas of expertise include hair loss and inflammatory skin disease. She has particular interest in medical therapeutics and health-related quality of life.